THAT'S GOT TO BE HARD: Marcus, a regular at the Unity gym shows Abdilahi Musse, Paul Roxburgh, Ahmed Mustawy, and Mannsour Yasser around the equipment

The Unity unites with other cultures

YOU have to press the buzzer to get into the building and the Lottery is supporting the Unity because of the problems.

In the first room they had a timetable of all of the activities that they do and here is what they do: boxing, football and roller blades.

Then we went into the next room they was a computer room and Ricky the Manager of the Unity was telling us that about a year ago there was a flood.

He and the rest of the staff had to cover all of the computers but luckily none of the computers were damaged.

Then Ricky took us over to the books and he then said that he loves maths and physics and his next step would be a physics teacher.

And then we went into the hall and it was massive and it is used for lots of stuff like roller skating and football and lots of other things.

Then Ricky took us into the Gym were Marcus was training, for example, picking up weights that will weigh about 155 kg.

And that was only the small weights, and he was doing 125 on the big weights, and that's got to be hard because it is really big.

We asked him how old he is and he said he is 30 years old. We also asked him how long works out for and he said about an hour, or sometimes, if he is tired he will be there for half an hour.

Then Ricky took us into the girl's room. We then asked Ricky how old he is, and he said I am 43 years of age.

Then we got a picture with Marcus and then we went.

Flood woes cause panic Fixing funds needed

By Abdilahi Musse, reporting from the Unity Youth Centre

A GROUP of Year 5 children went to the Unity and interviewed the staff there about the community.

A year ago the computer room flooded and all the water was coming in through the roof, the lights, and a hole in a roof.

They got £500,000 and they are now trying to get £200,000. If they get this money they will be able to get a new and improved centre. Ricky said if he wins the Lottery tomorrow he would do his job for free.

“A year ago, the computer room flooded and all the water was coming in through the roof, the lights, and a hole in a roof.”

The Unity is on Solway West. It was built in 1963. Ricky said he wanted to help and support children.

Marcus, who works out in the gym, said he likes coming here, ‘Because its not crowded so he’s doesn’t feel like he’s doing a show for lots of people.’

PART of Year 5 went to the Unity. Ricky is the manager of the Unity; Ricky is 43 years old and he is turning 44 this year.

A year ago in the Unity there was a flood and all the water was coming out of the roof and lights. There was a hole in the roof.

They need money, approximately £200,000 to fix the Unity roof. Ricky really likes maths.

He said he would not like to get paid because he likes to help children.
